The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, APRIL 5TH, 1893.

It has for some time been understood that a movement was on foot for the formation of an association by means of which adequate expression could be given to the public feeling of Hongkong on questions immediately affecting the colony. That movement has now taken shape in the circular which we reproduce in another column. From this circular we learn that "a couple of informal meetings of a few residents" held lately it was resolved that it was desirable an association should be formed, having in view certain objects which are set out at length, and that Messrs. W. DAWRY, J. V. FRANCIS, Q.C., D. GILLIES, J. S. LAPMAK, and E. ROBINSON (an honorary secretary) were appointed a provisional Committee to circulate the resolutions and to call a public meeting should sufficient support be forthcoming. The circular under notice has therefore been issued with the view of ascertaining the amount of support the movement is likely to receive. It is proposed, that the association shall be called "The Hongkong Association," and its principal objects are to study the best methods of improving and popularising the form of Government in Hongkong and to determine, amongst other things, whether that object can be most effectively accomplished by an increase in the number of unofficial members of Council and their election by the ratepayers, or by the formation of a Municipal Council with full power for the management of all purely local affairs; and, pending the success of the efforts to improve the form of Government, to support the unofficial members of Council with the largest possible powers for the management of all purely local affairs. The Hongkong Association is fully appreciated. The Colony knows that it cannot have rule in the sense which those words have come to bear, and it would not have it if it could. As regards Imperial politics we must necessarily be content to be carried along with the great Empire of which we form a part, for it is essential to Imperial interests in the Far East that a strong Government should be maintained here, a Government which shall not be subject to embarrassment by passing waves of local feeling. Outside Imperial interests altogether, however, there are certain local interests which, while of infinitesimal importance as compared with Imperial interests, press home all the more upon us. I hope that the majority of Koko residents will be satisfied enough to look forward to his speedy return, and will give both Mr. and Mrs. Woolley their kindest wishes for a pleasant holiday.

On Monday night a thunderstorm broke over the Colony shortly before nine o'clock, and continued for several hours, the rain falling in torrents. The wind was strong, and at the same time some of the electric lights went out and telephones and electric bell emitted sparks in a way that was rather alarming to persons of weak nerves. No damage is reported from the storm, and the rainfall, which was registered at the Observatory at 1.30 a.m., was very welcome, serving to raise the level of the water in the Tsim reservoir by 1 ft. 7 in.

Advice from Ashen says the Straits Times report discussions among the participants of the trial of Sir Charles Gifford and the Indian Chief of Gifford to the Netherlands Indian Government. This Chief stands at the head of a confederation of petty states and, since his accession in 1886, he has steadily refused to have anything to do with the Dutch authorities. His submission to the Governor of Ashen took place on the 19th instant, and it is expected that he will be condemned for his conduct in obstructing the pacification of Ashen.

The Straits Times says:—Mr. Chapman, a French subject turned out of the Laos States by the late Comte de Pinches, has been turned out at the same time, has not yet recovered from the hardship of his expulsion. He is suffering from the effects of his rough treatment, and we may take it that the claim will be easily met.

Mr. Frederic's despatch to the wheel of the Peking being the cause of the Feihsu Channel is somewhat justified, says the N. C. Daily News, by the fact that the Feihsu is still there, while the channel is gradually silting up. At the same time the old channel is deepening, and this is a providential dispensation because in a little while the new tide becomes the higher, and the old channel is a safer one at night than the new one.

The Straits Times says:—The Civil Service of Cyprus, to which the late Sir Elliot Bowill was attached, has been reorganized, and now has no widows and orphans' fund. But although the late Sir Elliot Bowill had only contributed £600 monthly subscription, making it in $2,900 to the widows and orphans' fund of the Straits, Lady Bowill will be entitled to draw from that fund a pension at the rate of about £300 a year nominal, or say £230 a year after allowing for the depreciated value of the dollar.

A correspondent writes to the Koko Chronicle:—"The new American postage stamp presents an interesting peculiarity. The one-cent stamp's advertisements seems with a clean-shaven face, while on the two-cent stamp 'Columbus' has a scraggly beard. The two cents are monthly subscription, and the one-cent is a naval man would say, 'I'll get you to print me a picture of Columbus'."

A somewhat amusing conference occurred on Tuesday in connection with a launch excursion, which, though at the time occurring some anxiety, fortunately terminated without any serious mishap. About thirty Portuguese ladies and gentlemen, on board one of the steamers, and a number of local residents of the island and leading on a shelving bank were in a little perilous upon the shore to find their craft firmly "stranded" upon the shore, as a naval man would say. All efforts to get her off proved unavailing and there was nothing for it but to stay there all night and wait assistance in the morning. This was fortuitously a very bad night, and the old channel was transformed into the other launch and covered house, where they were warmly welcomed by their apprehensive friends.

The P. & O. steamer Monteira, Capt. London, from Amoy and Hongkong, with coolies, when two days distant from Singapore picked up a Chinese fisherman, who had a curious story of his adventures at home. Already some of the private companies out in Peking have written to their friends asking that the subject of our Courts of Law may be brought prominently to notice of the Secretary of State. The best course the State cannot be relied upon for the punishment of the offenders. But always let it be clearly understood that he is to be tried in accordance with the law of his country.

London, from Amoy and Hongkong, with coolies, when two days distant from Singapore picked up a Chinese fisherman, who had a curious story of his adventures at home. Already some of the private companies out in Peking have written to their friends asking that the subject of our Courts of Law may be brought prominently to notice of the Secretary of State. The best course the State cannot be relied upon for the punishment of the offenders. But always let it be clearly understood that he is to be tried in accordance with the law of his country.
